Stevens Institute of Technology:

Head, Department of Humanities, 1988-1993:
  Multidisciplinary department of humanities and the social sciences, composed of 14 full-time faculty and 15 part-time faculty

Designed and introduced first B.A. degree programs (in history; literature; philosophy; science, technology, and society; and individualized major) and double degree programs combining this B.A. degree with the B.S. or B.E. degrees. Introduced minors (the first at Stevens) in humanities and social science fields for engineering, science, management, and liberal arts degree students.
Was awarded two curriculum development grants by the New Jersey Department of Higher Education, 1988-90.
Instituted major curricular reform: New courses in philosophy; science, technology and society; social sciences; languages; writing; interdisciplinary studies; and applied ethics.
  Gender and multicultural studies integrated in core courses and developed as electives.
Helped institute required additional course in ethics for computer science majors.
ABET accreditation, 1992: Humanities Department program was evaluated as "the best the team had ever seen."
